Fall 2013 Course Descriptions

Roles and Responsibilities of Planning & Zoning Boards, Part 1 (MIIA credit)

For new board members or building inspectors. This program will launch you into your role as a local official, introduce you to the functions of the two boards and the main tools of planning and zoning.

Roles and Responsibilities of Planning & Zoning Boards, Part 2 (MIIA credit)

This session is designed to discuss more advanced topics for new board members or building inspectors. It will focus on the Open Meeting, Public Records, and Conflict of Interest Laws.

Writing Reasonable and Defensible Decisions (MIIA credit)

Covers some key points that will assist boards in writing clear and defensible decisions. It describes criteria that should be contained in local zoning regulations and how these regulations relate to the types of conditions a board may impose when approving a special permit or variance application.

Introduction to the Subdivision Control Law and ANR (MIIA credit)

Addresses the purposes of the Subdivision Control Law; important procedural requirements and board responsibilities when reviewing subdivision and ANR plans; adoption of subdivision regulations; review of ANR plans; access issues; preliminary and definitive plans; Planning Board waivers; modifying, amending and rescinding plans; enforcement; vested rights and zoning freezes.

Vested Rights and Nonconforming Structures and Uses (MIIA credit)

Clarifies the difference between a nonconforming structure, lot and use. Explains the difference between a nonconforming and a noncompliant structure; familiarizes board members with issues regarding alterations to nonconforming structures or uses. Describes separate and common protection, as well as vested rights for subdivision and ANR plans.

The Next Chapter of 40B (MIIA credit)

Presented in association with DHCD and CHAPA (Citizens' Housing and Planning Association), this training will explain the most up-to-date information regarding Chapter 40B and how your community can work with the comprehensive permit process. Planning and zoning board members, public officials, municipal staff, affordable housing developers, and housing advocates interested in this important issue are encouraged to attend.

Special Permits and Variances (MIIA credit)

Do you know what makes Special Permits and Variances different? Learn about the key issues and the complex criteria for making decisions on Variances and Special Permits, as well as the important procedural requirements necessary to avoid constructive approval, including the importance of meeting timelines.

Creating Master Plans

Local officials will learn why and how to prepare, adopt, and implement the master or comprehensive plan described in MGL Chapter 41, Section D. The session will identify the sections of a master/comprehensive plan and specific steps for carrying out the plan.

Zoning Exemptions (MIIA credit)

The Zoning Act provides certain exemptions for agricultural, educational, childcare, and religious uses. Certain state and federal land and uses are also exempted from local zoning regulations. This session explains these exemptions, and the circumstances under which municipalities can enact and impose regulations.

Site Plan Review

The Zoning Act does not contain any provisions for the review of site plans, however the process can be a very effective tool for a board to review the details, aesthetics and impacts of a potential project. This course explains the difference between site plan approval and special permits; the review process; the types of conditions a board may impose; reasons for disapproval; the appeal process and the types of information a town can require to be shown on a site plan.

Introduction to the Zoning Act (MIIA credit)

For newer board members, this course addresses the history and purposes of zoning, adoption of zoning bylaws, variances and special permits, public hearing and voting requirements and other key procedural requirements.

Siting Renewable Energy Facilities

More and more communities in Massachusetts are faced with issues pertaining to locating alternative energy facilities such as wind and solar energy. Learn how your community can address the issues that these developments raise, the application/permitting process and ways to make sure these facilities are compatible with the goals of your city or town.

How to Hold a Perfect Public Hearing

This session covers legal and procedural requirements for conducting a public hearing. It also contains video clips to assist boards in avoiding constructive approvals, easing tension between parties over controversial projects and calming chaotic hearings.

Reading a Subdivision Plan

Explains how topography, roads, lot lines, wetlands, drainage and utilities etc are delineated on a plan. Aids boards with the decision-making and negotiating process.

Planning with Community Support

The course describes how to run a planning process—whether it is for a comprehensive plan or master plan—that will have the support of the community with the amendment and implementation process. It will explain how to work with or without consultants to make plans that result in local action.

NEW Land Use Regulation and Medical Marijuana

This session will provide an overview of the Medical Marijuana Act that went into effect on January 1, 2013, and the Dept. of Public Health regulations. It will discuss the merits and limitations of adopting local zoning bylaws, general bylaws, and other local regulations that might be considered in regulating various aspects of medical marijuana treatment centers, "off-site" cultivation facilities, and home growing licenses. Legal implications of the statutory definitions, the Attorney General's determination that communities cannot outright ban such facilities, and the non-profit status of treatment centers on regulatory and financial concerns will also be discussed.
